CHAPTER XXI.

OPPE was not at breakfast with us.

"The child is worn out," said Mrs. Fuller. "I shall keep her in bed a day or two."

"Couldn't I see her a moment?" I inquired.

"Dear, no!" said she. "The poor thing is in bed with a headache."

If Hope had been ill at home I should have felt free to go and sit by her as I had done more than once. It seemed a little severe to be shut away from her now, but Mrs. Fuller's manner had forewarned any appeal, and I held my peace. Having no children of her own, she had assumed a sort of proprietorship over Hope that was evident. That probably was why the girl had ceased to love me and to write to me as of old. A troop of mysteries came clear to me that morning. Through many gifts and favors she had got her sweetheart in a sort of bondage and would make a marriage of her own choosing if possible.

"Is there anything you would like particularly for your breakfast?" Mrs. Fuller inquired.

"Hain't no way perticular," said Uncle Eb. "I generally eat buckwheat pancakes an' maple sugar with a good strong cup of tea."

Mrs. Fuller left the room a moment. "Dunno but I'll go out 't the barn a minute an' take a look at the hosses," he said when she came back.

"The stable is a mile away," she replied, smiling.

"Gran' good team ye druv us out with las' night," he said. "Hed a chance 't look 'em over a little there at the door. The off hoss is puffed some for'ard, but if ye'r husband 'll put on a cold handkerchief a hound's tooth."

She thanked him and invited us to look in at the conservatory.

"Where's yer husband?" Uncle Eb inquired.

"He's not up yet," said she. "I fear he did not sleep well."

"Now, Mrs. Fuller," said Uncle Eb as we sat waiting, "if there's anything I can do 't help jes' let me know what 'tis."

She said there was nothing. Presently Uncle Eb sneezed so powerfully that it rattled the crystals on the chandelier and rang in the brass medallions.

The first and second butlers came running in with a frightened look. There was also a startled movement from somebody above stairs.

"I do sneeze powerful sometimes," said Uncle Eb from under his red bandanna. "'S enough 't scare anybody."

They brought in our breakfast then—a great array of tempting dishes. "Jest hev four pancakes an' a billed egg," said Uncle Eb as he slipped his tea. "Gran' tea," he added; "strong enough 't float a silver dollar too."

"Mrs. Fuller," I said, rising, when we had finished, "I thank you for your hospitality, but as I shall have to work nights probably I must find lodgings near the office."

"You must come and see us again," she answered cordially. "On Saturday

I shall take Hope away for a bit of rest, to Saratoga probably, and from there I shall take her to Hillsborough myself for a day or two."

"Thought she was goin' home with me," said Uncle Eb.

"Oh, dear, no!" said Mrs. Fuller. "She cannot go now. The girl is ill, and it's such a long journey."

The postman came then with a letter for Uncle Eb.

It was from David Brower. He would have to be gone a week or so buying cattle and thought Uncle Eb had better come home as soon as convenient.

"They're lonesome," he said thoughtfully after going over the letter again. "Fain't no wonder—they're gittin' old."

Uncle Eb was older than either of them, but he had not thought of that. "Le's see; 's about 8 o'clock," said he presently. "I've got 't go an' ten 't some business of my own. I'll be back here some time 't day. Mis' Fuller, an' I'll hev 't see that girl. You mustn't never try 't keep me 'way from her. She's not on my knee too many year for that—altogether too many."

We arranged to meet there at 4. Then a servant brought us our hats. I heard Hope calling as we passed the stairway.

"Won't you come up a minute, Uncle Eb? I want to see you very much."

Then Uncle Eb hurried upstairs, and I came away.

I read the advertisements of board and lodging—a perplexing task for one so ignorant of the town. After many calls I found a place to my liking on Monkey hill, near Printing House square. Monkey hill was the east end of William street and not in the least fashionable. There were some neat and cleanly looking houses on it of wood and brick and brownstone inhabited by small tradesmen, a few shops, a big stable and the chalet sitting on a broad, flat roof that covered a portion of the stable yard. The yard itself was the summit of Monkey hill. It lay between two brick buildings, and up the hill from the walk one looked into the gloomy cavern of the stable, and under the low roof on one side there were dump carts and old coaches in varying stages of infirmity.

There was an old iron shop that stood flush with the sidewalk, flanking the stable yard. A lantern and a mammoth key were suspended above the door, and hanging upon the side of the shop was a wooden stair ascending to the chalet. The latter had a sheathing of weather worn clapboards. It stood on the rear end of the brick building, communicating with the front rooms above the shop. A little stair of five steps ascended from the landing to its red door that overlooked an ample yard of roofing, adorned with potted plants. The main room of the chalet where we ate our meals and talked of an evening had the look of a ship's cabin. There were stationary seats along the wall covered with leathern cushions. There were port and starboard lanterns and a big one of polished brass that overhung the table. A ship's clock that had a noisy and cheerful tick was set in the wall. A narrow passage led to the room in front, and the latter had slanting sides. A big window of little panes in its farther end let in the light of William street.

Here I found a home for myself—humble, but quaint and cleanly. A thrifty German who, having long followed the sea, had married and thrown out his anchor for good and all now dwelt in the chalet with his wife and two boarders, both newspaper men. The old shopkeeper in front, once a sailor himself, had put the place in shipshape and leased it to them.

My host bore the name of Oppen and was widely known as "All Right" Oppen from his habit of cheery approval. Everything and everybody were "all right" to him so far as I could observe. To be sure, he took exceptions on occasions, but even then the affair ended with his inevitable verdict of "all right." Every suggestion I made as to terms of payment and arrangement of furniture was promptly stamped with this seal of approval.

I was comfortably settled and hard at work on my article by noon. At 4 I went to meet Uncle Eb. Hope was still sick in bed, and we came away in a frame of mind that could hardly have been more miserable. I tried to induce him to stay a night with me in my new quarters.

"I musn't," he said cheerfully. "Fore long I'm comin' down ag'in, but I can't fool round no longer now. I'll jes' go an' git my new clothes an' put 'em on the steamboat. What ye 't go an' see Hope tomorrow. She's comin' up with Mis' Fuller next week. I'm goin' 't find out what's the matter with her then. Sumthin' wrong somewhere. Dunno what 'tis. She's all upset."

Thousands of Women ARE MADE WELL AND STRONG

Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Rests Upon the Fact that It Really Does Make Sick Women Well

Thousands upon thousands of American women have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Their letters are on file in Mrs. Pinkham's office, and prove this statement to be a fact and not a mere boast.

Overshadowing indeed is the success of this great medicine, and compared with it all other medicines and treatment for women are experiments.

Why has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound accomplished its widespread results for good?

Why has it lived and thrived and done its glorious work for a quarter of a century?

Simply and surely because of its sterling worth. The reason no other medicine has even approached its success is plainly and positively because there is no other medicine in the world so good for women's ills.

The wonderful power of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the diseases of womanhood is not because it is a stimulant—not because it is a palliative, but simply because it is the most wonderful tonic and restorative ever discovered to act directly upon the uterine system, positively restoring health and vigor.

Marvelous cures are reported from all parts of the country by women who have been cured, trained nurses who have witnessed cures, and physicians who have recognized the virtue in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and are fair enough to give credit where it is due. If physicians dared to be frank and open, hundreds of them would acknowledge that they constantly prescribe Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in severe cases of female ills, as they know by experience that it will effect a cure.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular menstruation, backache, bloating (or flatulence), leucorrhoea, falling, inflammation or ulceration of the uterus, ovarian troubles, that "bearing-down" feeling, dizziness, faintness, indigestion, nervous prostration, or the blues, should take immediate action to ward off the serious consequences and be restored to health and strength by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Anyway, write to Mrs. Pinkham, Lynn, Mass., for advice. It's free and always helpful.

DEPENDS ON TOGO

Supremacy of Eastern Sea May Soon Hang in Balance.

THE TONE IS CHANGING

Former Tendency to Ridicule Russia's Naval Pretensions Is No Longer Quite So Manifest.

Rojestvensky Is Apparently Quietly Waiting For Negobatoff's Arrival.

London, April 20.—The British public is only now beginning to realize how much depends on Togo's skillful conduct of the approaching naval conflict. Until Vice Admiral Rojestvensky actually arrived in the straits of Malacca there was a disposition to ridicule the efforts of the Russian squadron; but now that there is seen to be a growing likelihood of Vice Admiral Negobatoff joining Rojestvensky before the fateful struggle opens lukewarm interest is deepening into anxiety. According to the Tokio correspondent of a news agency a momentous war conference lasting five hours was held there on Wednesday, attended by the elder statesmen, the premier and ministers. It is not difficult to conjecture the nature of the council's deliberations.

Tokio correspondents state that Japan has addressed a protest to France on the Russian Pacific squadron's presence in Kamranh bay, but that France has not yet replied. One correspondent at Tokio declares that a Japanese fleet is ready to sail for Kamranh bay. A Hong Kong correspondent states that two steamers which passed close to Kamranh bay on Sunday report that no Russian vessels were then visible. No news, however, has yet reached London to show that the Russians have left Kamranh bay, and it is assumed that they are still there.

The Morning Post, commenting on the situation, contends that it is a matter of urgent importance, especially considering Great Britain's worldwide naval interests, to endeavor to secure a more definite international agreement on the question of neutrality of the use of neutral waters by belligerents.

AWAITING REINFORCEMENTS

Rojestvensky Expecting Early Arrival of Third Squadron.

Tokio, April 20.—Although not reported directly, it is believed that the Russian Pacific squadron continues the occupation of Kamranh bay or some other port of Annam, where it is expected to remain until joined by the third Pacific squadron.

The report that Admiral Rojestvensky is maintaining a patrol and examining neutral shipping off Kamranh bay increases the irritation toward France for permitting the use of that port as a base of operations.

The Japanese government continues silent regarding the representations on this subject which have been made to France. The press, however, continues its agitation against France, demanding vigorous action.

Precautions Taken.

Tien Tsin, April 20.—Few transports are now arriving at New Chwang. This contrast with the rush of traffic since the opening of the Liao river indicates that precautions are being taken against possible interference by the Russian Pacific squadron. Vast accumulations of stores have already been made along the Japanese line of communication, assuring full supplies to the armies in the field, even if the transport service is interrupted.

Japs Pushing Ahead.

Harbin, April 20.—There are various reports of turning movements at Sitsihar or eastward of that point, but as yet these rumors are apparently unfounded. The vigor of the skirmishes taking place on the east flank of the Russian army, however, seems to indicate that the Japanese are planning to push northeastward and interpose a force between Harbin and Vladivostok.

Tried to Cut Railway.

Harbin, April 20.—There was a determined attempt on the night of April 17 to cut the railroad between Harbin and Vladivostok, a formidable body of Chinese bandits making an attack near the station of Linyanpo, 100 miles east of Harbin. After a desperate fight, which lasted several hours, the bandits were driven off and dispersed.

Japs Take a Town.

Tokio, April 20.—An unofficial report from Manchurian headquarters says: A Japanese force advanced toward Tungshu, fifty miles east of Hsicheng, and occupied that place on April 15. The enemy retreated to the north. There has been no change in the situation elsewhere.

Cause for Alarm.

Shanghai, April 20.—Two junks have been blown up by mines near Chusan. The appearance of mines south of Shanghai is causing great apprehension for the safety of European mail steamers.

THE RESTLESS BALKANS

Signs Point to Further Outbreaks This Spring.

Vienna, April 20.—The condition of affairs in the Balkan states is causing much uneasiness in official circles here. The hope of a comparatively peaceful spring which had previously been expressed is growing less, and it is declared that the reform work has now been proved conclusively without good or lasting results. In Zagoricham, province of Koritsa, early this month Greeks fell upon and killed more than 130 Bulgarians, and in Kumaovo, province of Uskub, Turks have killed several Servians. Thus it is seen that all nationalities and Christians and Mohammedans continue fighting each other, while Turkey seems unable or not desirous of affording protection to the people and stopping the disorders. Formerly there was only the passive resistance of Turkey to contend with, but now the situation has been aggravated by the growing bitter and passionate hatred of the various nationalities against each other, and there is a possibility that some one of the Balkan states might actively enter the field under the pretense of protecting its subjects.

Drug Victim's Strange Crime.

Cincinnati, April 20.—Charles Finch was arrested last evening, charged with throwing Loretta Krekeler, aged nine years, from the Liberty street viaduct to the ground below, a distance of eighty-three feet. The girl is in a serious condition and expected to die at any moment. Finch was identified by both the girl and her six-year-old brother, who was a witness to the crime. When arrested Finch was stupefied with cocaine, and a large box of the drug was found in his pocket.

Finds His Own Tombstone.

Columbus, O., April 20.—Attorney General Critchfield has received a letter from Joseph Nahaffey, who served in company "A," Ohio Volunteer Infantry during the civil war, saying he has just returned to Mount Vernon, O., after an absence of thirty years to find a government tombstone marking his supposed grave. Nahaffey seeks information concerning the person buried under his name, but the adjutant general's department is unable to enlighten him.

Young Woman Cruelly Murdered.

London, Ont., April 20.—Miss Eliza Lowery of Rodney was brutally murdered at her home by a heavily masked man supposed to be a tramp, who called at the house and demanded money. When he was refused he seized Miss Lowery and dragged her into the yard, where he beat her to death with a club. Farmers in every part of the country are aiding the police in the search for the murderer, and threats of lynching are heard.

Hoch on Trial for Murder.

Chicago, April 20.—Johann Hoch, self-confessed bigamist, is on trial in the criminal court for the murder of Mrs. Marie Walcker Hoch, one of his wives. Mrs. Amelia Fischer Hoch, the defendant's last wife, and sister of Mrs. Marie Walcker Hoch, will be one of the principal witnesses for the state. Mrs. Fischer Hoch declares she saw Hoch give some white powder to her sister just before the sister's death.

Boodle Trial Begins.

Sacramento, Cal., April 20.—The taking of testimony in the case of Harry Bunkers, the deposed state senator, who was indicted for alleged bribery, has commenced in the superior court. The trial will probably occupy a week or ten days.

Joe Jefferson Raillies.

West Palm Beach, Fla., April 20.—A change for the better in the condition of Joseph Jefferson is so encouraging to the physicians and the family as to lead to the hope of ultimate recovery.

Suicide at Martinsville.

Martinsville, Ind., April 20.—Robert Davis, foreman of the Adams brick plant, this city, committed suicide by taking carbolic acid.

WANT A WAY OUT

First District Republicans May Settle on a "Dark Horse."

JUDGE JOHN H. FOSTER

Is Mentioned as a Favorable Recipient of the Allegiance of the Opposing Forces.

Senator Hemenway Is Enroute From Washington to Pour Oil on Troubled Waters.

Evansville, Ind., April 20.—It is reported that an effort will be made to patch up the differences between the Cunningham and Brady Republican factions in the First congressional district. Senator Hemenway is en route from Washington, and will use his influence toward peace. Brady and his managers are in the city.

Sentiment is growing for a dark horse in the race, and Judge John H. Foster of the Vanderburg superior court is the only man mentioned. His name was used early in the winter before it was known definitely who the candidates for congress would be, and he was a receptive candidate. Now that the district convention is divided, use of his name is becoming general, and the friends of both forces desirous of seeing an early solution of the factional differences are discussing Judge Foster's fitness. It is generally felt that between now and Saturday events should shape themselves to permit his nomination unanimously.

THE STATE SCORES

Court Rules Against Demurrer in Impeachment Case.

Bloomington, Ind., April 20.—The attorneys for the state in the impeachment proceeding against Robert G. Miller, prosecuting attorney, make the claim that already they have sustained at least one of the charges against Mr. Miller. The specifications consisted of seven paragraphs or counts. The defense demurred to these, and Judge Robinson ruled against the defense on six of these counts; in favor of the defense on the remaining point. This was a minor charge. If the offense was committed at all it was committed by Miller when he was a deputy prosecutor, and thus he could not be impeached as prosecutor for it. This ruling by Judge Robinson meant that if Miller was shown to be guilty of any of the six counts his impeachment was possible. The testimony in the case is being followed with the closest interest.

Third Trial Successful.

New Albany, Ind., April 20.—Wm. Hardsaw, twenty-one years old, is dead of morphia poisoning. He was an inveterate cigarette smoker. He went to Louisville and purchased several boxes of cigarettes. He returned to his room, and after smoking the contents of the boxes, he swallowed morphia. It was his third attempt at suicide, once cutting his throat, and another time taking strychnine.

Work Resumed.

Bicknell, Ind., April 20.—The trouble at the Lynn coal mine, which began two months ago because the company, as alleged, refused to recognize the union and discharged some men who were active, has been compromised. The discharged men have been reinstated and work has been resumed.

RESIGNATIONS DEMANDED

Trouble in Pension Department Now a "Closed Incident."

Washington, April 20.—Nine of the ten pension examiners constituting the board of review have been separated from the government service. Commissioner of Pensions Warner transmitted the nine resignations to Secretary Hitchcock with the recommendation that they be accepted and Mr. Hitchcock took the desired action without delay. Both the secretary and the commissioner declare that the incident is closed. This, however, is not in accordance with the claim of the resigned examiners who assert that representation was made to them purporting to come from the commissioner, that should they hand in their resignations, matters would be relieved and restorations would be made at some date in the near future. Commissioner Warner, however, made no such representation to the secretary of the interior, stating to the secretary that the resignations were tendered unconditionally and their acceptance meant absolute separation from the service.

The difficulty involving the board of review was its approval of several pensions to applicants whose only claim was enlistment in a Pennsylvania and New Jersey regiment of volunteers for service in the civil war but whose services were never availed of by the government.

The Puritan Maid.

I.
EMURE and devout sat the Puritan maid in the governor's high backed pew. Thinking perchance that the burdens laid on damsels were more than a few, For to eyes as bright as a crystal spring where the pebbles lie smooth and white An Easter bonnet would just be the thing to give them the greatest delight.

II.
THOUGH feathers and flowers were then tabooed, being Easter, the bonnets were there, And she longed to look round, but the minister stood close by on the pulpit stair.

Pretty? That goes without saying, of course, where two dimples played hide and seek, The one in the saucy, upturned chin and the other on rosy cheek.

III.
AT the first it seemed strange to find herself there, alone in that big, square pew, And directly in front of the rest of the folks, though no one was there who knew That the governor's wife had been ill through the week, and, of all the pews in the church, To have that of the Moffatts left empty would seem like Easter-tide left in the lurch.

IV.
NOW, her mother had said as she bade her goodbye: "You will see that no sign of complaint Is made of your trifling or want of respect for the words of our pastor, a saint Who has ministered long in all holy things. And be sure to remember the text. Keep your eyes where they should be, not wandering off"— But whatever there might have come next

HE TURNED TO THE PAGE.

V.
WAS lost on Miss Catherine. "Why, there is the bell," she said as she ran through the hall. For to walk up that aisle with every one there would have suited her least of all. And, lo! as the service began there stepped right into that great, square pew A gentleman—well, he had been a guest, but not more than a month or two.

VI.
AND the sexton should never have put him there to embarrass the lady so. But she still sought her text as if she believed he had entered the pew below. As a matter of course she would miss it then, and what could the gentleman do In a case of that kind—keep himself to himself, and he in her father's pew?

VII.
A BIBLE lay ready at hand, which he took to show that he knew what to do. For he turned to the page that he wanted at once, writing, "Read it; it's John fifth of two." Then, laying it carelessly down on the seat, the "lastly" was heard from the desk. And the people made ready to stand on their feet, as singing the hymn would come next.

VIII.
AND for this, as the congregation arose and neither of them could see me, I read, "I beseech thee, lady, but do not propose a new commandment to thee. For this is an old one, as every one knows. That we love one another," and she, Determined he should not outwit her thus, Marked hers in Ruth, at the sixteenth verse: "Where thou goest I will go, And where thou lodgest I Will also make my dwelling place, And where thou liest, lie. Teach me the way thy fathers trod, So I with thee may serve thy God, And they who claim thee near of kin Will not refuse to take me in." But the blushing chit had to hide her face as the minister blessed them with peace and grace.

Marked hers in Ruth.

Miss Bonny of The Sunshine Club

By JOHN D. WYNNIE

AN EASTER STORY

Copyright, 1905, by C. N. Lurie

MISS GRUMMY stood looking out of his window, remarking to himself that the weather was beastly. Mr. Grummy was a testy bachelor of forty, who lived with his maiden sister, aged sixty. He had accumulated a snug fortune and, not having anything else to do, occupied his time in what is facetiously called kicking. He kicked at the weather, the party in power, the trusts, the trades unions, and he had just been kicking against the churches for celebrating Easter with what he termed a lot of humbug because Miss Grummy had asked him for a donation to buy flowers for the church.

"This is Mr. Grummy, I believe," said a cheery voice behind him. Turning, he saw a lady, aged perhaps thirty, looking at him with the most beaming countenance he had ever beheld. She smiled with her mouth, with her eyes—indeed, it seemed to Mr. Grummy that she smiled from the crown of her head to the sole of her foot.

Like any fair lady that the breeze is upon When it breaks into dimples and laughs in the sun.

"Yes, I am Mr. Grummy," said the bachelor.

"And I am Miss Bonny. Your sister told me that I would find you here, and I came in to see you on a little matter, the nature of which I will explain to you before entering upon the matter itself. I am a member of the Sunshine club."

"I wish your club would improve the weather," growled Mr. Grummy, but with less acerbity than usual.

"Our work is to try to make people comfortable. We visit the sick and place flowers by their bedside. We endeavor to find out people's special wants and supply them. In short, we are a charitable association, dispensing our charities so as to give the greatest comfort and pleasure."

"Now, that's what I call practical."

From painting by Mackhorst.

EASTER MORNING.

said Mr. Grummy. "This giving money to undeserving people who will turn upon you and rob you—this wastefulness on such occasions as Easter—"

"I am glad you approve of our cause," interrupted the lady with a voice which in contrast with Mr. Grummy's sounded like the notes of a zither beside those of a kettledrum, "because I have a case in point. I know you for a practical man, Mr. Grummy. You know we give comfort simply by conferring with and advising certain people who are in any way troubled. I made the acquaintance of the family I have in mind through the daughter, Alice Trainer. I didn't tell you the name was Trainer, did I? Well, Alice came to me about a love affair. She is engaged to a young plumber—"

"A plumber! They're all a set of thieves."

"Johnny Barnes isn't, for I am his confidant too. He only gets $15 a week, but he and Alice are going to be married on this pittance. Now, don't you think, Mr. Grummy, that, inasmuch as you are opposed to placing flowers in the churches on Easter Sunday, you might give me 25 cents to go with some other similar amounts to get Alice a few decent clothes for the bridal?"

"As a practical man," said Mr. Grummy, "I've never done any such work and don't know anything about it. I suppose I ought to go and see these people."

"You'll find them!"

Mr. Grummy held up a deprecating hand. "I'm not going hunting all over town. You'll have to pilot me."

"Certainly, Mr. Grummy. When shall we go?"

"I have only one time to do anything—now!"

IN A FEW DAYS
We shall have with us again that brightest, gayest season of the year—that season that bespeaks flowers and blossoming trees and twittering birds: the season of change from the old to the new.—Easter.

The Gold Mine.
We have searched the markets well in the Millinery Department we have covered the wholesale field for new styles, new shapes and new effects, and from the modest street hat to the ultra-modest dress affair. We have endeavored to combine in the highest possible degree—style, workmanship, quality and price. There is no recent style which is not represented in our Hat Department—no effect which our trimming force can not produce.

In the Dress Goods Department our shelves seem alive with their colors and shades which, blending and contrasting, seem to be holding an Easter Celebration in this department itself. We have earnestly endeavored to secure our share of seasonable merchandise in this line and believe we have succeeded.

In the fashionable cloths—Mohairs, Eolennes, wool and Silk Voiles—throughout the entire line of fashionable fabrics we are fully prepared to meet your every want, and at prices that are hardly in keeping with the splendid offerings in this line.

A very recent New York invoice enables us to show you a line of Silks in Waistings and Suitings which is absolutely beyond any local competition. The late shades which have appeared within just the last few weeks are here fully represented.

In the Wash Goods Department is the largest and most select line in Southern Indiana. Mercerized fabrics in Waistings and Suitings that rival Silk itself are here in Mohairs, Eolennes, Shantung, Silks, Gingham, Zephyrs and Muslins, Eolennes, Soies and Fil de Soies. In White Goods our line is excellent, and new patterns are added thereto almost daily.

Our Read-to-Wear Department is fully able to cater to the most fastidious trade, and welcomes inspections and comparisons with other lines. Dozens of new suits fresh from Eastern designers are now in; these are not on sale at fancy prices, but on the basis of regular stock.

Shirtwaists in every conceivable style and effect are here—all that you have seen in the Fashion Journals and scores of others besides. In this department your attention is invited to our extra large invoice of Ready-to-Wear Skirts—these at prices which are ridiculous at this season of the year.

Over the entire store are scattered new things for Eastertide. There are new designs in belts, in ladies' and children's neck wear, in hand bags, in bosomy novelties in the thousand-and-one things which go to complete the feminine wardrobe of necessities and luxuries.

There are many new things in Muslin underwear which you most certainly must appreciate if you but see them. And just now the dutiful house-wife is busy planning for the renewing and beautifying of the home. Let us say that in our basement we are well stocked with all sorts of conveniences to help you in this work—from carpe tacks to ready mixed paints. Here also is our big line of glassware, china, tin, and granite wares, etc.

WANT RESIGNATION
General Agents of Equitable Society Ask Hyde to Get Out.

"NOT ON YOUR LIFE"
Says He, or Words to That Effect, When Informed of the Action of the Agents' Convention.

Vice President of Disturbed Society Says the Demand Is Impertinent and Insulting.

New York, April 20.—After a protracted session behind closed doors, the 200 or more general agents of the Equitable Life Assurance Society adopted a resolution calling upon Vice President James H. Hyde to resign from his position with the organization and appointing a committee of five from their number to call on Mr. Hyde and present the demands.

All the members have bound themselves to secrecy by a vote of the body, and while no definite information as to this committee's whereabouts has been given out, it is the general opinion that it will report at once. Current talk had it that the resolution had been mailed to Mr. Hyde with comments, but this was not officially confirmed. This resolution the secretaries of the agents will not give out until notified by the committee of five that a copy has been served on Mr. Hyde.

When Mr. Hyde was informed of the action of the agents he said: "I have not seen the committee, and I have not seen the resolutions, but I consider them impertinent, extraordinary, insulting and most preposterous. I have no intention of resigning."

The agents also formed a permanent organization and a committee was elected to go to Albany to petition the insurance commissioner and Governor Higgins to urge the mutualization of the Equitable.

He Wants an Accounting.
New Orleans, April 20.—Edgar M. Cahn, an attorney, has filed suit in the civil courts here on behalf of himself and other policy holders of the Equitable Life Assurance Society of the United States asking for a receivership under the Louisiana law and for accounting of the company's affairs, in view of the New York situation. The petition represents that the company has large interests here.

ARRANGING A PLAN
Traction Interests and City Getting Together at Chicago.

Chicago, Ill., April 20.—Negotiations for the purchase of the Chicago Street railways have been opened between the traction representatives and the city. A proposition is pending under which the companies will at once proceed to modernize their lines and sell to the city at fair prices, thus getting rid of all legal controversy and securing immediate municipal ownership.

An approach to definite results was obtained at the conference by a practical agreement upon a joint conference to be held soon by the mayor, the traction interests and the city council committee on transportation ultimate to purchase of the lines and the settlement of all controversy between the street railway companies and the city.

Dr. Dawson is practicing Osteopathy in Seymour as taught by Dr. Still and the results warrant all that is claimed for this system."

INTERESTING DECISION
State Supreme Court Hands Down Opinion in Oil Cases

Indianapolis, Ind., April 20.—The supreme court has handed down two decisions of special interest to business men. For the first time it has decided what the term "oil in paying quantity" means. The decision was in the case of H. B. Carrell against the Manhattan Oil company in which the lower court awarded him judgment for damages amounting to $3,875. According to the lease the company was to drill five wells on his property if oil was found in paying quantity. The company claimed that the first well did not pay enough to warrant it in drilling more and the supreme court held this a proper defense. The supreme court holds that corporations organized under special laws enacted prior to the adoption of the present state constitution in 1852 absolutely ceased to exist when the term for which they were organized expired. The decision was an appeal by the American Cannel Coal company which was organized in 1837 for a term of fifty years. It claimed a right to fire clay deposits in Perry county. The supreme court reversed a judgment of the lower court in its favor holding it ceased to exist in 1887 as a corporation, and therefore could not bring suit as one.

Until the supreme court renders a decision on the constitutionality of the anti-cigarette law it is probable that it will not be generally effective. For instance, Police Judge Whallon of Indianapolis holds that it does not prohibit smoking or private ownership of cigarettes or the "makings," but on the other hand a number of judges who are also good lawyers are fining men for smoking and for having cigarettes in their possession. The attorney general in the meantime refuses to commit himself fully until the matter comes to him in a regular channel, which means that a decision will be asked from the supreme court. Judge Whallon's position is interesting. He said the penal statutes must be strictly construed and the intention of the statute clearly defined by the act itself. "If it had been intended," he said, "that the law should apply to smokers it would have been very easy to have inserted the words: 'smoking, or having in one's possession for smoking.' The two clauses must be read together. The first applies to regularly established dealers and the second to the incidental sales, or private sales by individuals. Therefore the law can not on its face, apply to smokers who have cigarettes for their own use." The decision has lifted the bars for the cigarette brigade and it is likely there will be nearly as much smoking as ever on the streets here for the police will be helpless to stop it unless the supreme court decides that the law not only prohibits the sale and manufacturing of cigarettes, but the smoking and private ownership of them. Superintendent Kruger, of the police department, was disappointed over the decision but he expected it. He said it will now be impossible to stop young boys.

Requests continue to pour in on Attorney General Miller for construction of many points in the new municipal code. It seems there are a thousand and one things about it that are not understood. Inquiry from many cities of the fifth class as to whether or not the mayors have the right under the new code to remove regularly elected officers and appoint their successors has resulted in the preparation of an opinion in the attorney general's office to the effect that the regularly elected officers shall be permitted to serve out their terms. At the expiration of the terms of the officials affected by the decision they will be appointed by the mayor and will be directly responsible to him for their actions. The attorney general's opinion was given at the request of City Attorney C. N. Cooper of Columbus, who understood that Mayor McCormack of that city contemplated removing a number of local officials and appointing their successors according to the new municipal code. Answering these queries relative to the code is taking almost the entire time of one deputy.

Two Changes of Venue.
Rockville, Ind., April 20.—The trial of Joseph Roach, indicted for murder in the first degree, sent here on a change of venue from Vigo county, has been set for Monday, May 8. Spring Time Need of a Good Tonic.

Mr. Peter of the W. F. Peter Drug Co. Tells About Spring Medi- cines and Their Uses.

"We often have people come to our store for something to 'brace them up,' said Mr. Peter of the W. F. Peter Drug Co. 'We always recommend Rexall Mucu-Tone as the ideal remedy, with the result that they invariably come back, not for the money, which we have always guaranteed to return in case of dissatisfaction, but to speak in the most appreciative terms of this wonderful remedy, and to thank us for having urged them to take it for their springtime ailments. 'These customers think they are merely run down, out of sorts and think they want a tonic, when in reality they are suffering with systemic catarrh, a form of disease where the catarrhal condition is scattered throughout the whole body. 'Rexall Mucu-Tone is a catarrh cure which we know will cure every form of catarrhal disorder. It is a nutritive tonic, body builder and blood purifier. It has won the highest praises not only here but all over the country. It cleanses the mucous membranes of the body, drives out the poison, builds up the wasted tissues. Because it does all this Mucu-Tone is to our notion the ideal spring tonic. The very first dose of Mucu-Tone braces you up, while three or four weeks of it in table spoon doses three times a day will make you feel like a new person. 'It will rebuild your whole system, making you fairly bubble over with good spirits, buoyancy and vigor of perfect health. 'If you are feeling badly, are afraid you are going to be sick; if you are run down and miserable generally, our advice is to take a fifty cent bottle of Mucu-Tone. If it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel better than you have in months we will promptly return you your money. W. F. Peter Drug Co.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube be restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.
